Editorial Note

Building on its long history of academic publishing, the Bangladesh History Association introduced DOI registration through Crossref starting with the 2022 Biennial Conference. Both Itihas Samiti Patrika and Bangladesh Historical Studies are now published semiannually in English and Bangla, ensuring each article is globally discoverable with a unique DOI.

We are pleased to present Volume XXVIII (2025) of this peer-reviewed journal. The journal is deeply indebted to our reviewers and subject experts for their invaluable contributions. The articles in this volume reflect the diversity and vitality of contemporary historical research. Alongside political and social history, this issue also explores specialized areas such as public health, urban studies, manuscript traditions, and gender history. We believe it will serve as a significant contribution, introducing new dimensions to the academic arena.

Members of the Editorial Board have provided constant inspiration and guidance. We thank the authors for their cooperation in promptly addressing the revisions suggested during the review process. Following a rigorous peer-review process, one of the major challenges in publication was ensuring that the abstracts met acceptable academic standards. I owe a special debt of gratitude to Dr. Asha Islam Nayeem and Furkan Ahmed for their invaluable contributions and constant support throughout this process.

Special thanks are also due to a dedicated team of students from the Department of History at the University of Dhaka: Md. Rakibul Islam Alik, Satu Hagidok, Shiuly Molla and Shajia Khanom Anika. They assisted in such as proofreading, photo editing, color grading, website updates and image rendering. Their dedication to historical research is truly commendable.

We express our sincere gratitude to Dr. Sahidul Hasan for his steadfast support throughout this journey. Finally, the publication of this volume would not have been possible without the constant encouragement of Dr. Abul Kashem, President of the Bangladesh History Association. We hope it will prove meaningful and useful to our readers.
